

I am wonderfully served by several FM translators, such as the K-LOVE radio network. They broadcast up-to-date and professional news casts that inform the community. They also promote strong families. Further, they keep me informed not only of events that are national in scope, but also reserve time to broadcast information about local events. The quality of music found on this and other stations utilizing FM translators is not available, and likely would not be available, elsewhere. Therefore, I would not want to see these stations replaced by low power FM (LPFM) broadcasts. Thank you.
